

Dear Representative/Senator,

Across the country, working families are facing mounting challenges—even as corporate profits and billionaire wealth continue to rise. We're doing our part to keep this country strong, and we believe it's only fair that our elected leaders stand with us.

As your constituents, we respectfully ask for your attention and response to the following pressing concerns:

1. Workers' Rights: What immediate steps are you taking to protect and strengthen workers' rights, including the right to organize and form unions?
2. Health Care Affordability: What are your plans to make health insurance and prescription drugs more affordable, especially as millions are expected to lose Medicaid coverage in the coming months?
3. Tax Fairness: As economic inequality continues to grow, what actions are you supporting to ensure that corporations and the wealthiest Americans contribute their fair share?
4. Workplace Safety: How are you working to ensure that the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) and other vital workplace safety agencies are fully funded and staffed to keep workers safe?
5. Retirement Security: What policies are you advancing to safeguard Social Security, Medicare, and retirement plans for current and future retirees?
6. Fair Trade and Global Accountability: How are you ensuring that trade policies protect American workers, while also holding global bad actors accountable and promoting partnerships with countries that uphold strong labor standards?

We are proud to be the people who build, power, care for, and sustain this country every day. We are not asking for special treatment—we are asking for fairness, accountability, and a government that truly works for working people. Thank you for considering these important issues. We look forward to your response and to seeing continued leadership in support of the people who make America work.
